

YEAR OF WAR-TAS SAVED $400,000,000 U. S. FARM INDUSTRY

For one American industry the European war has proved literally a life saver. This is the business of growing and making sugar, both from cane and beets. While sugar does not rank in size as an agricultural crop with corn or wheat, yet the amount raised from American soil has reached large proportions, ranging from 3,000,000,000 to 5,000,000,000 pounds a year.

One peculiar thing about sugar is that it is grown in more different parts of American territory than any other crop. Cane sugar is the principal product of Louisiana, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands while sugar beets are grown in sixteen states, from Ohio in the east

California in the west.

A year ago the industry of sugar production was on the decline. Following the action of Congress in reducing the duty on foreign-grown sugar and providing for its free admission after May 1, 1916, forty Louisiana mills and plantations had passed into the hands of the government and had been disposed of at forced sale. A dozen beet sugar factories had closed their doors and it was expected that 1915 would be the last year during which sugar would be grown to any extent from American soil as growers declared that they could not meet the competition of sugar produced under the cheap labor conditions prevailing in tropical countries.

export sugar supplies of Central Europe and causing Great Britain, France and other European countries to turn to the American market for the purchase of sugar. Prices advanced rapidly and the American sugar grower, instead of facing destruction was once more able to produce his crop at a profit. Sugar experts assert that prices will remain at a remunerative level as long as the war continues. Thus the European conflict has been responsible for saving, temporarily at least, an industry representing an investment of over $400,000,000, and the crop of American grown sugar to be harvested during the present year probably will be of record-breaking proportions.

OLD DOC'S TALK

AMERICANISM

My son, are you an American? If so, show it by your loyalty to the flag. There's no other way.

If you were born in Germany or elsewhere outside of the United States and wish to remain loyal to your birthland, you have that right, my boy. You may sympathize with your country, and if it goes to war, very consistently indeed, fight for it.

But, my son, if you are American-born and have identified yourself with us in your every-day life, or if you have deliberately taken out naturalization papers and forewarned allegiance to a foreign potentate, you have no right to be anything but an American with a big A; not by a damn sight you haven't.

There's no such thing as a German-American. You are either German or American: one or the other.

And the right sort will size you up so quick it'll make your hair stand on end to see him do it.

You can't play two roles, one for your pocketbook and the other on your heart-strings. This country does not acknowledge bastard relationships, my boy, or grant the right to hyphenated citizenship. And now's the time, my boy, to show your loyalty, if you have any; and if you haven't, now's the time to yamoose—to pick out—to kneedaddle—to git—and go plumb to hell if you want to.

You're nothing but a traitor, my son. You and your parents belong here. They came here as peasants to better their condition, and they struck a bonanza. You got to go to college. Your father came to a place where he could hold up his head if his father was a cobbler; he made money, and was respected because he worked and was respectable. No social prejudice kept him from coming to his own.

And when you graduated you were able to marry a decent American girl. Your sister married a banker in New York, and your brother became big up of one of our states. Could they have done this in Germany or any other country? Not by a long sight.

All you are and have you owe to the United States and its beneficent institutions.

And now that we're about to have a squabble with a set of military officials (not with your real country at all), you're going to talk saucy, tell the president what you think of him, and even threaten rebellion!

My boy, don't do it—don't do it. If you do, you'll regret it all your life. Your company in this country will be with the unworthy and disloyal. Carl Schurz, German born, a big man in any country, with a true soul and a loyal heart said, "My country, right or wrong."

And Herman Ridder has taken the pains to say in a German paper: "I speak for myself and, I believe, for the great majority of German-Americans when I say that we are with the President of the United States to the finish in all matters of national honor or national prestige. I subscribe unqualifiedly to the statement of Carl Schurz: 'My country, right or wrong.'"

The best of all foreign-born citizens say the same thing.

Only a few unworthy persons will refuse to stand by their country in its hour of trial; they will suffer more than any one else for their treachery. And if you study them you will find that they are no more true to their friends than they are to their country; no sentiment blinds them. They're here for what they can make out of us. As time goes on, my boy, the American people will leave them to their own devices, and if they suffer materially whose fault will it be? Just now forget your antecedents, my son; lift your eyes to the old flag, take off your hat to it in reverence, and swear to God that you'll stand by both your word and your bond.

MAYOR LANE IS PROBING WRECK OF CITY'S AUTO

The alleged "joy-ride" of Road Overseer Charles Clark in a city automobile on the other side of the Pali and the ending of the ride when Clark lost control of the machine and it turned turtle on the Kaneohe road a week ago Sunday, is to be investigated not only by the grand jury but by Mayor John C. Lane as well.

The mayor set out in his automobile this morning at 9 o'clock for the scene of the accident, and he said before leaving that he will interview all the known witnesses. After getting what information he can over on the other side of the Pali, he says that he intends to call in City Engineer Whitehouse for a little "chat."

Incidentally rumors are current around the city about the manner in which Whitehouse's automobile was smashed up recently. It was reported that while returning from a jaunt about town on unofficial business, Whitehouse, like Clark, lost control of the city-owned machine which he was driving and went off the road in the vicinity of his home. A repair bill of $88.10 was incurred for work on that machine, a bill which City Purchasing Agent Botts has refused to allow.

RUFUS WILLIAMS IS READY TO FIGHT 'EM

Schofield Barracks, Co. A, 25th Inf., Aug. 28, 1915. Sporting Editor Star-Bulletin.

Dear sir: I, Rufus Williams, having noticed a challenge of the boxers on the U. S. Maryland, wish and truly hope you may give me and us, the sports of Schofield Barracks, a small space in your paper.

Sir, for myself, I would be willing to box anyone for sport, money, marbles or matches that has been burnt, for I love the boxing game as a clean sport, so the bluejackets don't need to feel that they can't or won't be entertained, because boxing is my game; and I will box anyone any place, any time, for anything; and to show that I am not afraid, I will box for the sport of the game, and to show the people of the city what a champ looks like in real action.

Sir, I am better in every respect than ever before in the days that I met and defeated the best middle-weight boys in the world, or I defeated all that was game to box me; that's all anyone can do.

We have boys in Schofield that will beat the bluejackets doing anything they know, except scrubbing decks, and we, the sports and our followers of Schofield, intend to demonstrate the plain facts to any and everybody.

Yours for sport,

RUFUS WILLIAMS.

P.S.—Sir: When I say Schofield Barracks, I don't mean just the 25th, but every soldier in Schofield Barracks; we all work and pull together and I know that the 2nd Infantry will be there with the bell as it always has.

According to information which has been received from Hilo, "Cabby" Brown of Honolulu is endeavoring to secure $10,000 from Hawaii county in payment for a 10-foot strip of land in the Crescent City which he claims is his property. It is understood that an agreement has been reached whereby the sugar company will take certain care of the trees in question.

WILL SAY GOODBYE TO THREE SHIPS WITHIN WEEK

Within the next week three Pacific Mail liners will call at Honolulu for the last time, before going into other service under their new owners, the Atlantic Transport Company of West Virginia.

Today the Korea arrived from the Orient. This is her last trip and after reaching San Francisco she will be taken off the transpacific run.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock the Mongolia will dock at Pier 7 for the last time on her way to the Orient. She makes one more round trip but will not stop at this port either going out or returning.

A week from today the Siberia will arrive from the Orient, on her farewell trip to the mainland. The three boats have become well and favorably known to Honoluluans and their departure is a matter of sentimental regret, as well as an actual loss, because of the increased congestion in the already crowded passenger business which will become effective after they are taken off.

ARMY NOTES

Quite remarkable shooting was done yesterday at the Fort Shafter rifle range by the National Guard rifle team. Corp. John Searle scored a possible 50 at the 200-yard range, while Sergt. Sam Pinao also scored 50 at the 300-yard range, on slow fire.

Shifty, uncertain winds make good shooting at this range more difficult than at any other place in the country, according to army officers, who say the Jacksonville range will probably be much easier than the Shafter one.

The team leaves September 23 for Jacksonville, giving the members three more Sundays of practice.

Officers who desire an extension of their tour of duty in Hawaii, the Philippines or at Panama, may have to submit their applications at a stated time in advance of their return to the United States, the Army and Navy Journal predicts. This publication states that the new regulation is contemplated for the protection of officers selected to relieve those who are relieved from foreign service. Recently some very embarrassing results have followed the extension of foreign tours of duty after officers have been ordered and actually on the way to their foreign stations.

Tomorrow will be a busy day at Fort Shafter, as the troops will be reviewed, inspected, and mustered. First call is at 7:50 o'clock, with assembly at 8 in the morning.

STAR-BULLETIN ITEM BRINGS IN CASH FOR SCHEME

"Say, I want to thank the Star-Bulletin for that story it had about us. It has gotten us a few dollars."

This statement was made today by the attorney for Sam Kaumanoa, a local carpenter who believes he has solved the question of perpetual motion by inventing a machine that will "run forever."

Sam has been trying to raise $200 to get his invention patented and the other day the Star-Bulletin called attention to this fact. Sam's lawyer said today that, as a result of the story, Sam's friends have come to his assistance and that now he has about half the amount needed.

"According to Sam's attorney, a certain Honolulu mechanic, who has examined the plans of the invention, declares that the invention is workable. A local draftsman, says the attorney, claims that the wheel, which is supposed to revolve by its own power, would have to be 20 feet in diameter in order to develop energy equal to one horse-power."

HUGGINS' TRICK PLAY COSTS ROBINS GAME

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Manager Huggins of the Cardinals introduced a freak play recently that sent the Robins to defeat by 6 to 4 in the final game of the series. Brooklyn fought an uphill game to reach the Cardinals, who knocked Dell off the hill with three runs in the first and had a 4-4 score in the seventh. The Cardinals filed the sacks, with two out, when Appleton was ready to foot Snyder and crawl out of the round with a cipher.

Then Huggins, coaching from third base, called to Appleton to let him look at the ball. "There's a rip on the seam," called Huggins, and Appleton was obliging. He tossed over to Huggins, who dodged, and the ball rolled to the grand stand. Before Getz recovered the ball Miller scored. Hyatt was on third and Dolan on second.

The Dodgers protested to Umpire Klem, but the play was allowed.
